In today's age of technology, changes are inevitable. They take place within minutes, overnight and over years. The changes may affect one or many. Here in our own school we have recently been affected by new curfews, new sign out rules, new dress regulations and a new building. In Charity Hospital, new uniform regulations, new services and modern equipment are evident.

In our community, new buildings are being erected, new responsibilities and privileges are being given to the young. But amidst these renovations, some things never change.

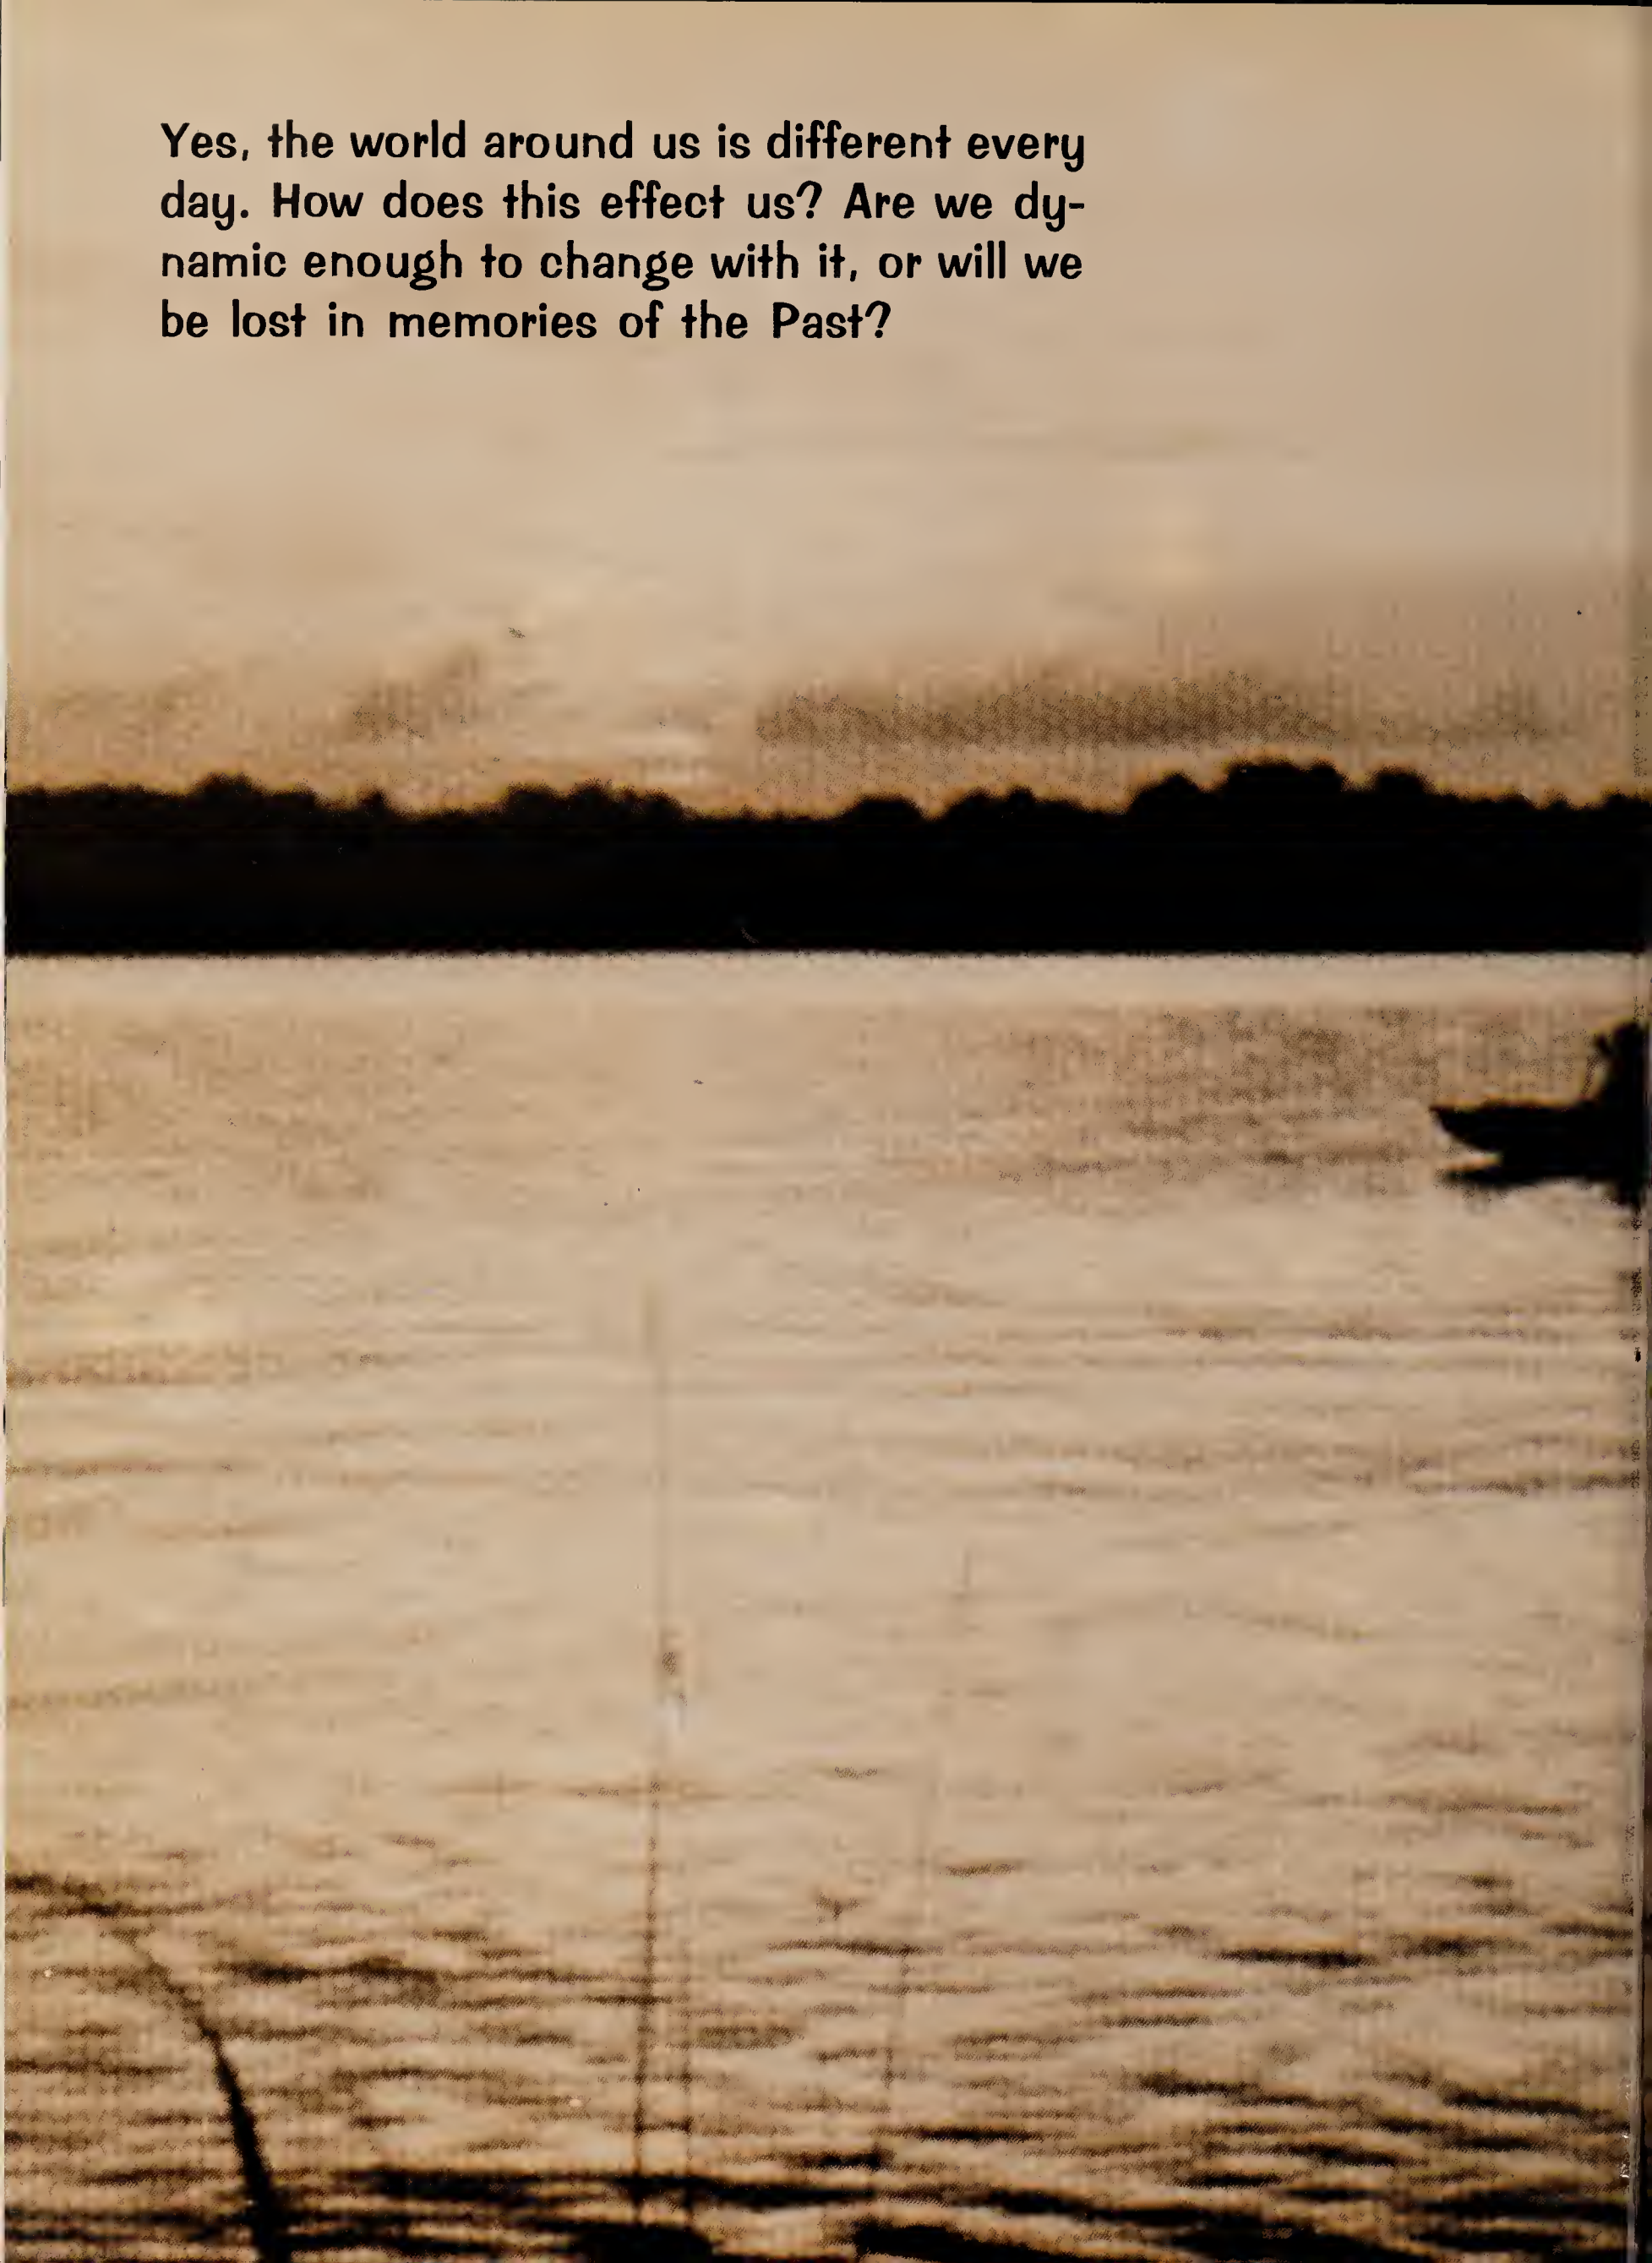
Yes, the world around us is different every day. How does this effect us? Are we dynamic enough to change with it, or will we be lost in memories of the Past?



Administration And Curriculum

Under the leadership of Charity Hospital director, Dr. Charles Mary, Jr., and the Charity Hospital Board of Administrators, the hospital underwent many changes during the past year. Much of the hospital has been painted and air-conditioned. Included in the new supplies and equiptment purchased for the hospital are new wheelchairs, many disposable items including disposable baby formulas, hydrolic lifts in all areas, mobile emergency carts in all areas, and ice machines. New areas in the hospital include a four bed respiratory intensive care unit, a coronary care unit, and a pediatric emergency admit room.

New Leadership Brings Many Changes

Matters Of Importance Brought To Director

The Director of Charity Hospital School of Nursing, Sister Blanche McDonnell, continued to spend much of her time overseeing the completion of the school's new educational building. In addition to her administrative duties at the School of Nursing, Sister Blanche served in other positions of importance including President of South Louisiana League for Nursing; Preident of the governing board of DePaul Hospital; and 1st Vice-President of the Louisiana State Nurses' Association.

Scientific Principles Focus On Nursing

MR. D. CRAIS
MRS. J. SMITH
MISS K. TINSLEY

The sciences offer the basic foundation for the principles of health and disease with special emphasis on their importance to nursing.
The integraded systems which form the body and maintain it in a proper state were the main topics sudied in Anatomy and Physiology.
The nursing student learned the basic principles of Microbiology with special emphasis on the application to her daily practice of nursing.
The student was provided with the current concepts of the scientific principles of Nutrition and their application to meet the individual's physiological and psychological needs.
Chemistry offered a survey of the general principles which govern the chemical processes of the body.

"Disecting the brain," above "takes much time and effort," Mr. Crais explains to his students.
Mrs. Smith, below, strives to teach her students good nutrition.

Preparing To Meet Basic Needs Of Patient

Several new teaching techniques were used in Fundamentals of Nursing. First of all, a new lecture on student responsibilities and study techniques was added.
As a new experience in communication, tapes were used in which new material was presented on improving communication techniques and building therapeutic relationships.
Also for the first time, material was presented on meeting the rest and sleep needs of the patient.
New material on topical application of drugs eye, ear and nose drops was studied. Also new concept media filmstrips entitled "Psychological Aspects of Cancer" were viewed.
A further new learning experience focused around a lawyer's lecture on the legal aspects of nursing.

LEFT: She said if I drop the soap I have to start again. OPP. PAGE: It takes one freshman to give the bath and the other to keep the patient covered! Christina Zilaste changes the bed of a patient in traction. RIGHT: Did she say we write on the green, pink or yellow page?

SISTER MARY BETH

Bedmaking and communication techniques are important lessons learned in Fundamentals.

MRS J. THOMAS

MISS J. WEISHEIT

Psychiatric Nursing aims to establish helpful nurse-patient relationships with emphasis on understanding behavior and purposeful use of self.

By working with hospitalized patients with psychiatric disorders at Charity Hospital and Veterans Administration Hospital, students received the opportunity to gain a better understanding of all persons and the ability to use concepts of psychiatric nursing in all areas of nursing practice. Planned experiences included establishing the one-to-one relationship, planning group activities with the patients, participating in various group therapies and attending the psychiatric out-patient clinci.

Interpersonal Skills Are Utilized

MRS. B. HOBERT

MRS. B. MANGIN

SISTER LEE ANN

Kisook Yoon and Mary Moore participate in interpersonal relationships with their patients.

Students in the maternity and newborn areas cared for premature and normal babies before, during and after their birth.
Changes that were evident in these hospital wards included a premature nursery annex, which is an overflow nursery for the normal nursery on 10th floor. The labor rooms were partioned into four separate rooms with a four bed capacity to provide more privacy for the patients.

Helping Bring New Life To The World

Specialized Nursing Care Taught

Joanne Goldfinch (above left) checks blood pressure in the cancer research center. Rosalind Albritten (right) assists an ambulatory patient with a post operative breathing treatment. Brenda Richard (below) talks with her patient while Mary Moniz checks the IV.

MRS. B. WYCHE

Surgery I is divided into two divisions: Operating Room where students learn to scrub and assist with the operation as well as circulate, and wards, pre-operative, Recovery Room and post-operative.

Barbara Glover and Carolyn Daigle instruct a patient in positive pressure breathing.

Comprehensive Care Is Learned

This year the instructors of Medicine made the course more student centered. This means that the student took a more active role in the class theory by presenting a patient with the disease being studied. The students looked up medications, diagnostic tests to be preformed and other aspects of the illness and discussed them in small groups.

"But Michelle (above right) you have to give him cardiac massage!

Speciality Areas Studied In Med-Surg

The course of study in Medical-Surgical Nursing included such areas as MICU, SICU, Neurology, and Team Nursing.

The students in these surgical areas worked amidst some of the changes going on in Charity Hospital.

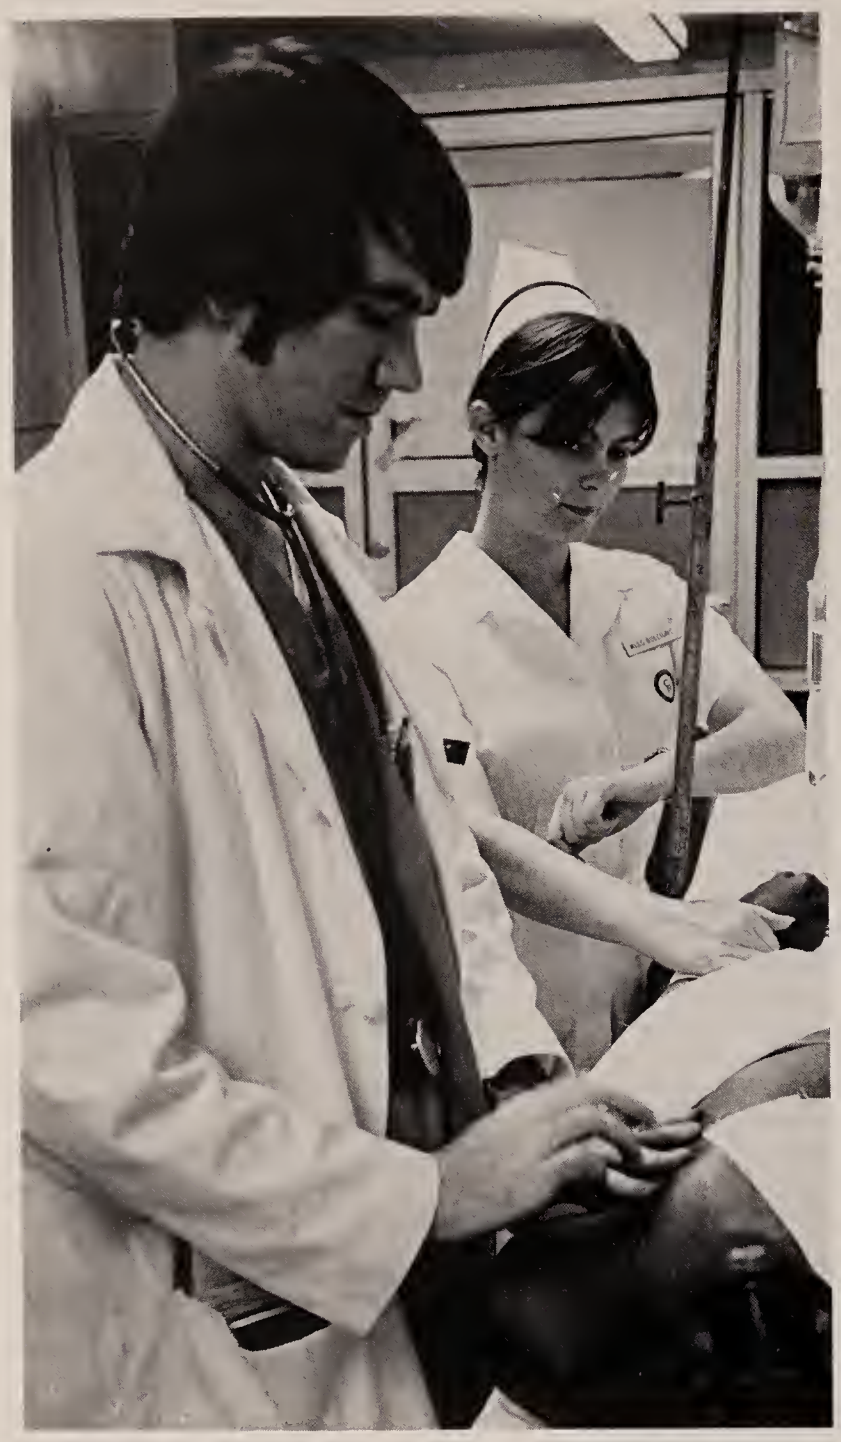
The surgical wards have initiated a new system of progressive patient care whereby acute patients are located in one ward. As the patient's condition improves, he is transferred to other ward until he gets to the self care unit.

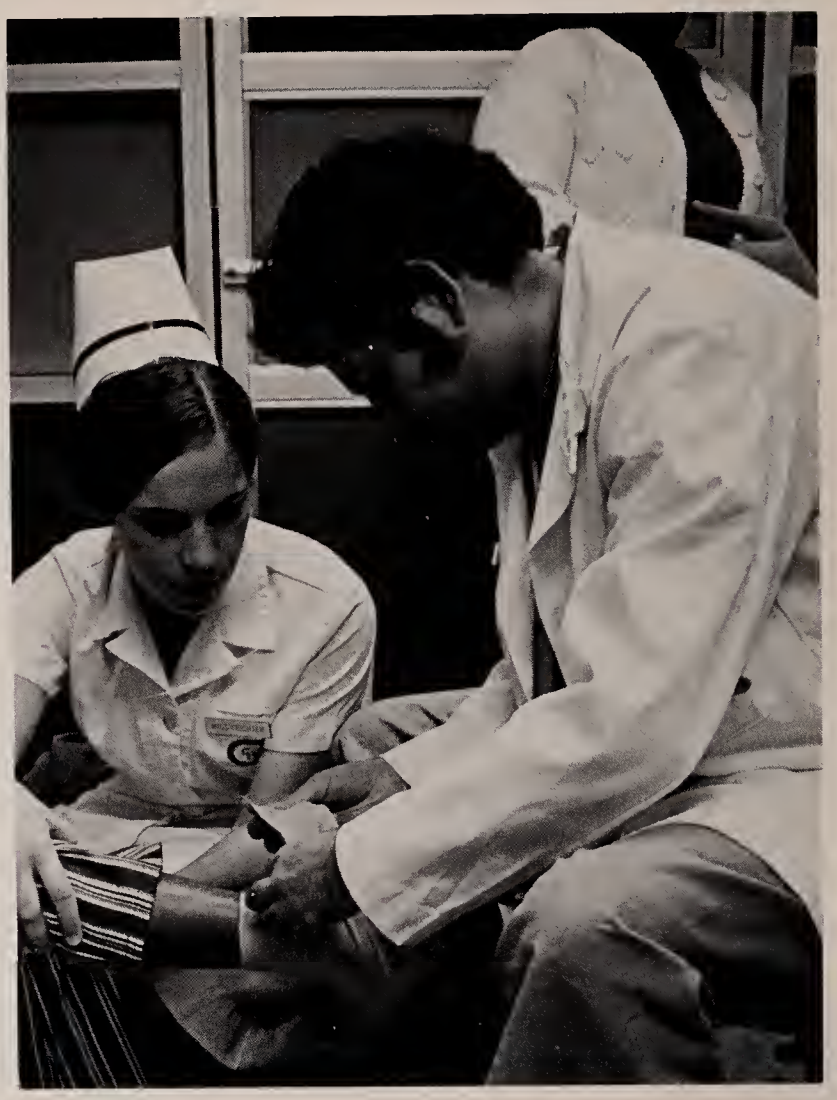
Amidst the traction wires and pulleys (right) Debbie Waguespack and Lindy Sibly position their patient in bed.

The technique of drawing blood gases is learned in intensive care units.

Students in Team Nursing observe as staff nurse removes the patient's bandage.
Mrs. Lee (left) carefully studies her students' performances.

Good Health Promoted Outside Of Ward





This year's course in Out Patient Nursing offered a variety of new experiences to the student.
Students learned to do venipuncture in the hospital laboratory under the guidance of laboratory technicians.
Experience in the new pediatric emergency room began, and there was greater depth of learning in conditions of the ear and eye in these clinics.
More emphasis was placed on student discussion of topics for the promotion of mental health and for more adequate nutrition with patients in their homes.

In accident room (above) Sylvia Bullings assists the doctor by taking the patient's pulse.
Learning the procedure for veinipuncture in the laboratory are Alice Carmouche and Madeline Cerniglia.

Joanne Frichter assists doctor by supporting leg of patient while his ancle is wrapped in the busy accident room.

Lynn May and Pam May observe as M.D. makes an examination in Out Patient department. To administer a vision test was one of the skills learned in Out Patient Nursing.

Nursing On A Smaller Scale

Nursing of children offered to the student theory and nursing experience in the care of children from birth to twelve years of age.
Clinical experience was obtained on the pediatric units of Charity Hospital, a 300 bed unit, as well as in the new pediatric emergency room.

Lynn May and Cindy Stienkamp (above left) teach mothers how to read a thermometer in new pediatric emergency room.
Kay Toups and Annette White (right) assist a doctor in an examination.

MRS. J. ADAMS
MRS. G. FUQUA

Playing and working (above) can be the same in Peds. A guitar proves to be a favorite toy for this deaf child.

Complex Surgical Problems Studied

Pam Bourgeois and Dale Collura (above) observe treatments given in the kidney dialysis unit.

Janice Pantermuehl (below) gives wound care using sterile technique.

Ixthus Promotes Friendship

Anyone needing a friend or something interesting and rewarding to do on Thursday nights was welcomed at Ixthus meetings. The work Ixthus denotes that it is an organization of Christians trying to learn more about God, life, and people and how they interrelate. Don Rogers, who club members term an outstanding man and vital Christian leader, is the club sponsor. Ixthus meetings have included a guest speaker on the Ba Hai religion, insight film on mental illness, a meeting to get to know and understand each other and a study series on the New Testament. Pictured at left, top row, Cindy Bourgeois, Christine Zelasko, Kisook Yoon, bottom row, Mary Mayard, Diane Le Blanc, Cathy Vautrot, Marti Tallaksen.

High Averages Required

To be eligible for membership to Sigma Alpha Chi, one must have maintained a cumulative quality point average of 2.2 after completion of the first semester of the Junior year, manifested leadership and interest in at least two school activities and be of good moral character.

Black Student Organization is an organization initiated three years ago for the purpose of insuring better rights and privileges for its members. The club seeks to broaden the scope of black unity among the group and disburse it among others. The B.S.O. plans its activities on a monthly basis with a grand activity terminating the school year. Other B.S.O. activities included selling refreshments at movies, giving baskets at Thanksgiving and Christmas and visiting old folks home at Christmas.

The Library Club members carried out the club's purpose of aiding the school's librarians by manning the desk during the librarian's absence and decorating the library and lobby with seasonal decorations. Cultural attractions attended by the Library Club included a trip to the Delgado Museum and a visit to the Antique Pharmacy Museum.

Charity Hospital Association of Student Nurses is an organization which prepares the student for his or her roll as a registered nurse. Monthly meetings were held in which the business of the club was discussed and programs and projects were planned. Activities included a freshman orientation party, and a Christmas party. Dr. Pugh, from the new leukemia unit at Charity Hospital, was an interesting guest speaker. A representative from the hospital's new burn center also spoke at a C.H.A.S.N. meeting. In November, the Louisiana Association of Student Nurses Convention in Monroe highlighted the fall activities. Representatives also attended the National Student Nurse's Association Convention in Detroit, Michigan in April.

Staff Works Many Hours

The small Caps and Capes staff met weekly from September until the final deadline in February to plan and assemble the 72 Caps and Capes. Many of the meetings were learning sessions in which Cheryl McGinnis, editor, taught the staff latest techniques in drawing lay-outs and taking photographs.

Choral Club Entertains At Events

The Choral Club which meets weekly was reorganized this year by Marty Jones. Twenty-five members participated in a Christmas program at the annual student body Christmas party. Diane Craft is the group's accompanist.

Members are Karen Leitz, Sue Gard, Rita Williams, Marty Jones, Becky Pachiarz, Charlene Breaux, Regina Dominick, Pattie Millet, Madge McLain, Mary Lacunt, Debbie Castanza, Sandra Williams, Vivian Gonsoulin. Sitting: Charlene White, Debbie Baker, Sheila Benard.

Athletes Strive For Best.

The athletic club composed of volleyball, basketball and baseball team, is coached by Norman Bartholomew, an employee of Genuine Parts Company. The volleyball team was organized in September of 1971 and consisted of 23 female players.
Charity's team is a member of the Commercial Athletic Association, competing against various business affiliated teams throughout the city.
In 1971-72 the volleyball team placed second in their division with an overall position of runner-up in the Athletic Association. Kathy Lanphier was named "All Star Player." She along with her team members received individual trophies for their performances.

Activities

Seniors Receive Hard-Earned Bands

At right the seniors put on their bands for the first time while at right, some still receive them.

Many Happy Juniors Receive Caps

Above, the student body rises for a prayer led by Sister Blanche while below, more junior capping is done.

Ghouls, Ghosts And Witch Doctors

We Give Thanks For Our Hot Dogs

Formal Starts Christmas Spirits Rolling

while Debbie Chaudoir, bottom right, prepares to leave with hers.

Far left, are two tired dancers leaving the formal. At top middle, many seem to enjoy the Buffalo music, and lower some prefer to sit and talk.

At left, Buffalo music played on until 1:00 A.M. and above, sitting down awhile for a few drinks wasn't too bad an idea after many hours of dancing.

Seniors Delight Tots On Peds

The annual Pediatrics Party sponsored by the Senior Class was enjoyed by the seniors as much as it was by the children. The seniors made presents and provided entertainment with songs and Santa Claus.

Christmas Vacation Was Close At Hand

Pictured at the annual Student Body Christmas Party in the above sequence are some children who helped with the tree-trimming and talked with Santa about that list he was sent. Some seniors live it up at the party while Penny Rutledge presents Sister Blanche with the students' Christmas present.

To the right, Stone Cold really rock out while below students listen to the music and try to forget about the final they blew today.

Block Party Hails Semester End

Mrs. Manich Awarded Diploma

At Mrs. Manich's retirement party, upper right, refreshments were served to Peggy Ditta and Pat Lindsey by instructor, Mrs. Krumins. Middle right, Wilda Taylor, Harriet Olivier, Mrs. Williams, Sr. Mary Beth, and Mrs. Rooker enjoy chatting at the party. Lower right, upon her retirement, Mrs. Marie Manich, ass't. Director in Charge of Administration, was presented with an honorary diploma from CHSN by Dr. Mary.

Dorm Life Never Dull

As we draw close to the end of another year so do I come to the end of the book. Never having a complete staff at one time I can only thank those who drifted in in times of dire need to help. To our sponsor, Mary Frances Smart, who weathered my many moods, always with a smile, thanks are not enough.

As I look back on this year it truly has been a trying one, full of challenges and changes, successes and defeats. It was certainly an experience at least. But because of the people I have met and the things I have done I have changed. My ideas and philosophies have been altered as has my life - for the better or worse still remains to be seen. So, look back on the year and even if you have not changed, go over some of the lessons you missed along the way and you will be better for at least that.
